

Test 5

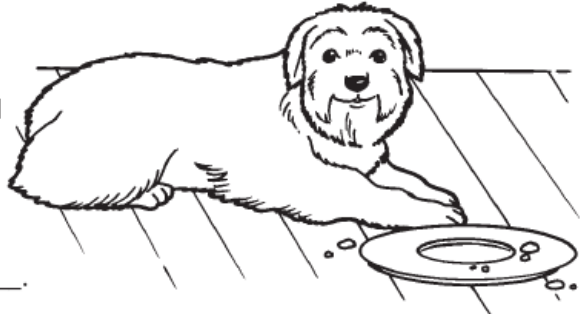

Got a root word? Then you can grow new words from it by adding suffixes.

Directions: The missing word in each passage below is an adverb ending in -ly. Find the one that makes the most sense, and fill it in.

confidently	nervously	jubilantly	wearily
suspiciously	contentedly	dejectedly

1. The math teacher challenged the class with a particularly tricky problem. "Any volunteers?" he asked with a wry smile. One hand went up. "I'll try it," Linda said _____.
2. The Bobcats were favored to win the championship. They were playing well but in the last few seconds, missed a goal and lost. The players hung their heads and left the field _____.
3. Mom volunteered to make Kyle's Halloween costume. It took longer than she anticipated. At 11:30 P.M., she was still working, sewing on the last bit of trim. "Just a few more stitches and I'll finally be done," she said _____.
4. In his whole life Brian had never won anything. When he heard about the science fair, he was determined to make the best project. For weeks he worked on it until it was perfect. When the judges made their decision, Brian _____ accepted the first place ribbon.
5. The doctor told Tim that he had an infection but that an antibiotic should clear it right up. "Do I have to have a shot?" he asked _____.
6. Sam left his sandwich on the porch steps and went inside to get a glass of milk. When he came back out, the sandwich was gone. Sam looked over at his dog, Renny, _____.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Answers

1. The math teacher challenged the class with a particularly tricky problem. "Any volunteers?" he asked with a wry smile. One hand went up. "I'll try it," Banta said confidently.
2. The Bobcats were favoured to win the championship. They were playing well but in the last few seconds, missed a goal and lost. The players hung their heads and left the field dejectedly.
3. Mom volunteered to make Kyle's Halloween costume. It took longer than she anticipated. At 11:30 P.M., she was still working, sewing on the last bit of trim. "Just a few more stitches and I'll finally be done," she said wearily.
4. In his whole life Brian had never won anything. When he heard about the science fair, he was determined to make the best project. For weeks he worked on it until it was perfect. When the judges made their decision, Brian jubilantly accepted the first place ribbon.
5. The doctor told Tim that he had an infection but that an antibiotic should clear it right up. "Do I have to have a shot?" he asked nervously.
6. Sam left his sandwich on the porch steps and went inside to get a glass of milk. When he came back out, the sandwich was gone. Sam looked over at his dog, Renny, suspiciously.